BOND SET FOR FORMER POWELL ICE CREAM SHOP OWNER ACCUSED OF MOLESTING EMPLOYEES

By Dean Narciso

The Columbus Dispatch ~ Wednesday March 30, 2016

DELAWARE, Ohio — Bond was set today at $120,000 for the former owner of Rita's Italian Ice in Powell who was indicted last week on 17 felony counts related to providing drugs and alcohol to his underage employees and then sexually molesting them.

Danny Kitsos, 53, sat quietly as Delaware County Common Pleas Court Judge Everett Krueger read the charges which include rape, unlawful sexual conduct, sexual battery and compelling prostitution, among others.

The indictment lists five female victims, all of whom were younger than 18 and worked for him between September, 2012 and last fall. At least one girl was between 13 and 16, the indictment says. He's accused of sexually assaulting four of them and providing the fifth with drugs or alcohol. In one case he paid a victim or "agent" of the victim for sex.

Some of the alleged sexual conduct took place within the Rita's store on South Liberty Street, according to the Delaware County prosecutor's office.

Powell police began to investigate when one of the victims told her parents what had happened.

Kitsos is scheduled for a jury trial July 19. He has been in the Delaware County Jail since Friday, when he turned himself in.

Until last week, Kitsos, of Rockdale Drive on Columbus' Northeast Side, had worked in the records department at Nationwide Children's Hospital, according to Doug Dumolt, a Delaware County assistant prosecutor.

Kitsos told Krueger that he's indigent, unemployed and has few assets. He said he was a 19 percent owner in Rita's and made no money while there.

Kitsos furnished his victims with gabapentin, a muscle relaxer and seizure medication, and alcohol "in what they dubbed fun Fridays, and then he would continue to test his boundaries with his employees," Dumolt said.

Kitsos' court appointed attorney, Brian Jones, said Kitsos is innocent, but declined to comment on the facts and circumstances of the charges.

"Any attorney who comments on pending litigation is engaging a desperate attempt to bias jurors," he said.
