THANK YOU NOTES

Numerous seasonal thank-you notes were received from the community along with holiday treats.

Dear Chief Vest:

I am a 4 year Powell resident and wanted to acknowledge your Department and your officer's.

Our first encounter with the Powell Police Department was shortly after we moved into our new home on Junia Court. At the time my elderly parents were staying with us and my Mother inadvertently locked her car with critical medications and the extra key inside!

After several futile attempts with a coat hanger, we called your Department and a very understanding officer came to our rescue.

Last Christmas night as some of our guests were leaving and others arriving, we left our garage door open. When the doorbell rang rather late in the evening, we were surprised to see an officer. He said he was patrolling, saw the open garage door and thought we should be aware of that! We were so shocked by that community spirit, that we wanted to give him some homemade Christmas cookies- he refused but we insisted and I told him to just take them back to Headquarters and share with everyone- after all, it was Christmas Day!

In relating these two previous encounters, it brings me to my current situation. Unfortunately for me it was not positive.

On September 29, 2017 I was home alone working in my yard doing fall chores. Whether I slipped or accidently stepped back, I can't recall but I fell into my 4 foot deep egress window well, severely breaking my right leg. There was a built in ladder in this window well but I was too incapacitated to climb out. Obviously, I was in shock and tremendous pain and becoming more and more desperate regarding my critical situation.

I had seen my next door neighbor earlier that morning and thought he might still be home, after many rounds of yelling to hopefully attract attention, I started throwing rocks at his house, thinking he might hear the noise and investigate.

Between screaming and hurling rocks to no avail, I calculated that I might be stuck in the window well for up to 4 hours until my husband came home from work. As a Registered Nurse, I know how trauma and shock can affect body functions and I was concentrating so hard so I wouldn't panic (which would only have been self-defeating). I became angry and once more grabbed a hand full of rocks and with much difficulty, threw as hard as I could. I knew one of them hit my neighbor's basement window because it made a different noise. I was somewhat encouraged, thinking he might have heard that louder sound. It turned out that he was not home.

When no one came, I thought I heard a cell phone ringing and yelled again, hoping to attract someone walking through our court. That too was met with no response. As my pain increased so did my anxiety and I cupped my head in my hands and attempted to re-group.

I looked up and the most beautiful sight I have ever seen was your officer looking down at me who was so relieved to see him that my first comment was, "Who called you?"

I think he was as surprised to see me as I was to see him and he replied that he was responding to a breaking glass alarm at my neighbor's house. Then I explained my predicament and he immediately jumped into action, climbing into the window well with me, calling for back-up EMR.

It seemed like a lifetime, but I was probably only in that window well for 20-30 minutes. Because of your officer and I only wish I had his name, so I could personally thank him but I am convinced he saved my life!

A quick update- My tibia plateau fracture was severe and I have experienced two surgeries, spent 5 weeks at Heartland of Dublin for rehab and have been home now for a month, continuing with out-patient physical therapy. Since my surgery to repair the fracture (with enough plates and screws to set off TSA alarms as soon as I enter any airport). I was instructed by my surgeon that for 3 months, I couldn't do weight bearing. I see him again on January 5th and that will be the end of my 3 months and the beginning of learning how to walk again.

To say that this accident has not altered my life would be an understatement but starting with your officer, who is a "HERO" in my eyes, I've had support from neighbors, friends and of course my beloved family.

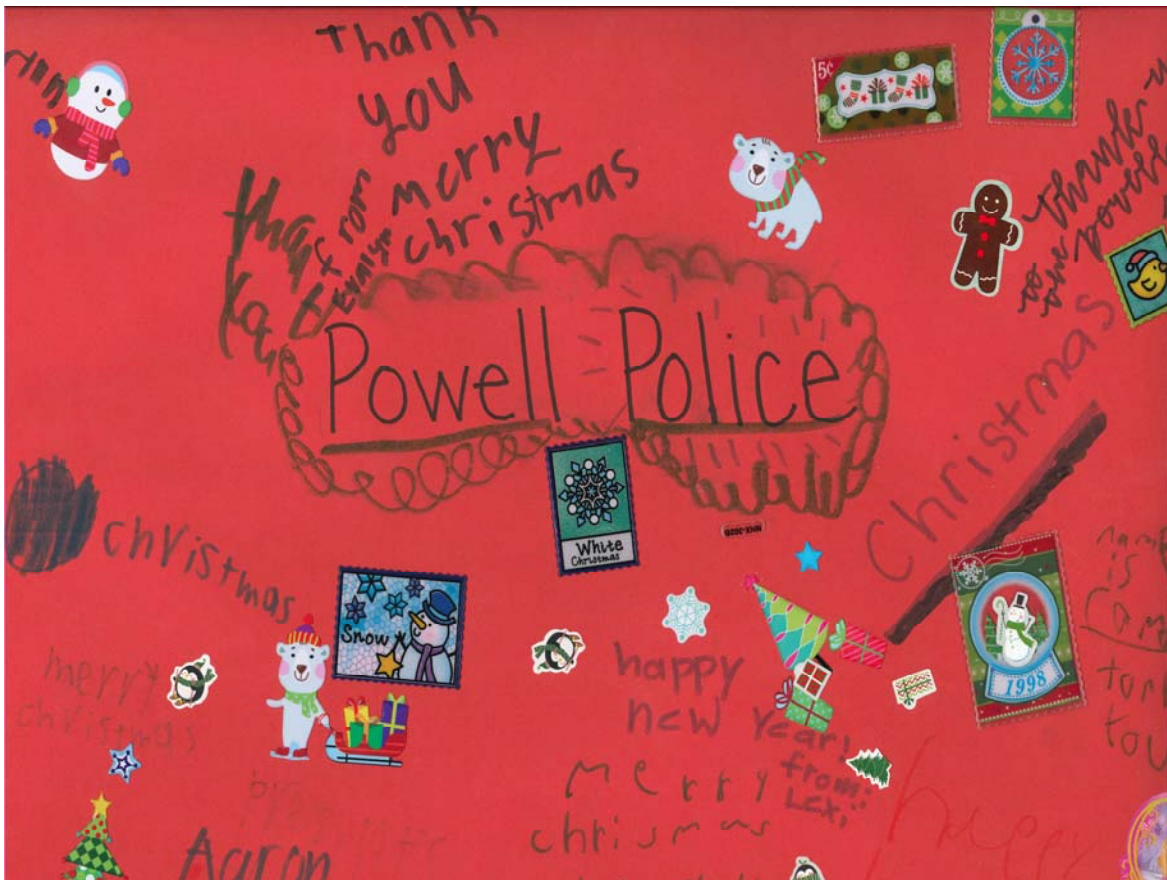

In a year, I will undoubtedly look back on this unfortunate experience and time-frame with renewed knowledge and insight – empathy for others, total respect for handicap parking, (which some abuse), absolute love and gratitude for my family for their continuing support but most especially appreciation for our first responders, fire, police, EMR.

During this Holiday Season, please convey my deepest thankfulness for everything to your officers.

Hoping each of you have a Blessed, Safe and Happy Holiday.

Best Regards,
